MEMORANDUM FOR:

July 2, 1975

GENERAL SCOWCROFT

FROM:

ROBERT B. OAKLEY

SUBJECT:

Elements of an Interim Sinai Agreement

There are three interrelated military-political problems concerning a possible Israeli-Egyptian interim Sinai agreement which Sam Hoskinson is examining on a contingency basis at our request:

- The technical feasibility and the communications security problems posed for the United States in manning the three early warning stations (two Israeli and one Egyptian) which might be part of the agreement;
- the feasibility of construction and military need for two roads from Ras el Sudr to Abu Rodeis, one Egyptian and one Israeli;
- the military need for Israeli defensive positions at the crest or on the Western slope of the Gidi and Mitla passes, as compared to defensive positions at the mouth or just to the East of the entrances of these passes.
